ABANDON BABY LAW - A parent, legal custodian, or caregiver may drop off an infant up to 72 hours old at any fire station, hospital that offers emergency services, or with emergency medical technicians without any fear of prosecution. No information is required, but it may be volunteered.

This directory is intended to provide a comprehensive listing of programs and services available to Seminole County families. Our goal is to enable families to have the knowledge and tools necessary to receive the services that meet their individual needs. Some of the information contained within the directory may not be supported in full by the individual member agencies. Although CAPTF has made every attempt to verify the information contained within this directory, they are neither responsible for inaccuracies, acts nor consequences resulting from errors or omissions

The Resource Directory is funded in part by:

Families and Communities Together in Seminole is transforming the system of care for children's mental health in our community. Youth, families and child-serving organizations are working together to support the needs of young people who are experiencing emotional and behavioral challenges.

We're striving to ensure that Seminole County is a community where services are helpful, easy to access and supportive of the needs of the individual and the family as a whole, all in a way that respects cultural and language differences. Throughout the transformation, families have a voice in the care of their own children, and young people are heard before decisions are made about their care.

Funded by a grant from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration awarded to Seminole County in 2010, FACTS is an initiative of Community Based Care of Central Florida. The Children's Cabinet of Seminole serves as its governance board. Programs include Wraparound Seminole and Youth MOVE Seminole. More info: www.seminolechildren.org

Many factors affect mental health, including exposure to trauma. You may not know that a child or youth has faced trauma, but you can make a real difference just the same. Families and Communities Together in Seminole invites you to

Be A Hero of Hope

A Hero of Hope is a caring adult who provides a child or youth with positive support. You may not know whether a child or youth has faced trauma; you can make a real difference just the same.

If you only have a minute, be a Hero for a minute:

- Offer a word of encouragement or praise, especially to a child or youth who has been bullied or feels alone.

If you have an hour or two, be a Hero for a few hours:

- Coach a youth sports team, especially one with youth who may have parents away on military deployment.
- Volunteer at an organization that provides activities or mentoring for children or youth, especially youth whose families are in a homeless shelter.

If you have longer, be someone's lifelong Hero:

- Resolve to be a continuing positive influence in the life of a child or youth, and touch base regularly just so they know you're there.

Reactions to traumatic experiences vary, and with help from families, friends and other Heroes of Hope, children and youth can enhance their resilience and be better prepared for future challenges.
